

JOINUS

RHODE ISLAND PROFESSIONALS:

Help Build Adoption Competence Across Systems

National Center & Rhode Island NTI Professional Development Information Meeting

Children and families impacted by child welfare often engage with multiple systems. When professionals like you, working in the child welfare, mental health, juvenile justice, or education systems, are trained in adoption competence, they can collaborate more effectively, creating coordinated support that addresses the complex needs facing these families.

Join us for an afternoon session about a free, evidence-informed adoption competency training through the National Adoption Competency Mental Health Training Initiative (NTI), offering three curricula designed for child welfare, mental health, and school-based professionals. This overview will highlight the value of NTI and demonstrate how training adoption competent professionals across all child-serving systems is a critical step to improving mental health outcomes. Register today and learn how you can contribute to a collaborative workforce prepared to meet families' needs holistically, across every system of care.

Oct. 30, 2025
2:00pm – 4:00pm ET

Stay and mingle for connection and snacks
4:00 – 5:00pm EST

Executive Office of Health and Human Services
3 West Road
Virks Building
(1st floor training room)
Cranston, RI 02920

REGISTER TODAY
Scan the QR code or click to register

National Center for Adoption Competent
Mental Health Services

3919 National Dr., Suite 200
Burtonsville, MD 20866

bridges4mentalhealth.org

