National Center for Adoption Competent Mental Health Services | Neighborhood Health Plan of Rhode Island™

Building Bridges to Improve Mental Health™

Join the Mission:

Building an Adoption Competent Workforce Through NTI Learning Sessions

The National Center for Adoption Competent Mental Health Services (NC) is proud to partner with Neighborhood Health Plan of Rhode Island (Neighborhood) to facilitate a National Adoption Competency Mental Health Training Initiative (NTI)™ cohort in Rhode Island. This cohort is an integral part of a larger effort to advance adoption competency in Rhode Island.

"Neighborhood is deeply committed to helping children and families affected by foster care, adoption, and guardianship access mental health providers who possess exceptional ability to respond to their experiences," said Tracy Vadeboncoeur, Neighborhood's Director of Behavioral Health. "Our partnership with the National Center strengthens our provider network by providing clinicians training in adoption-competent, trauma-informed treatment. It also signals an important step toward building a more inclusive and family-centered system of care across Rhode Island."

As a provider in the Neighborhood network, NTI will enhance your clinical practice by increasing your understanding of loss, grief, trauma, and disruptions in attachment experienced by children and families involved in foster care, adoption, and guardianship. It can also improve cross-system collaboration through an aligned curriculum that establishes shared language and a common framework for understanding the impact of loss and trauma on attachment and behavior.

AS AN NTI COHORT PARTICIPANT, YOU WILL ALSO RECEIVE:

- No-cost 26.5 continuing education units (CEUs)
- Priority consideration for referrals of children and families with child welfare involvement
- Inclusion in the National Directory, supporting improved access to adoption-competent mental health services for families
