PROTECT YOURSELF

from cold, flu and
COVID-19 too

Cold and flu season is here, and COVID-19 is still in our community. There are many ways to protect yourself from germs and stay healthy all season long.

Get a flu shot.

It's the most important thing you can do to prevent the flu.

Watch for symptoms.

If you have a high fever, chills and a bad cough, call your provider.

Wash your hands.

Washing with warm water and soap for at least 20 seconds is best.

Clean often.

Remembering to wipe down areas you use most, like desks, kitchens and bathrooms, helps stop the spread of germs.

Continue to social distance.

Staying six feet apart while in public can help stop the spread of germs.

Get rest.

Our bodies need sleep. If you're feeling sick, take it slow and spend some time resting.

Eat healthy foods.

Add more fruits, vegetables and whole grains to your diet.

Talk to your provider
if you aren't feeling well or have questions about your health.

We want our seniors to BE WELL

As you age, you're at risk for more serious complications from the flu.

The flu vaccine can help prevent you from getting the flu. If you have any symptoms like fever, cough, sore throat, runny or stuffy nose, body aches or any other flu like symptoms; call your provider right away.

Neighborhood members can get a flu shot with no cost to you at your provider's office or at a pharmacy such as Walgreens or CVS. Learn more from the CDC:

STAYING HEALTHY at Home

Staying home can help stop the spread of illnesses such as the flu and COVID-19. Staying home does not mean you cannot stay active and well. Staying active and well can keep you healthy. Even small amounts of moderate activity can help keep you healthy and well.

Here are some ideas to move more at home:

- Take a walk outside
- Turn up the radio and dance like no one's watching
- Mop or vacuum to get your heart pumping
- Work on your garden or yardwork
